

Sport Climbing Australia
Australian Climbing Team: Climber Responsibility Policy

Sport Climbing Australia (SCA) aims to provide Australian climbers with opportunities to compete internationally. SCA expects all climbers representing Australia to act, dress and behave in a way that reflects positively both on the sport and their country.

Team Uniform

- Climbers are expected to wear team appropriate uniform at all times requested by the organisers of the competition, the team management or the team coach.
- Uniform is to be kept looking as neat and clean as possible.
- Wearing the Australian Uniform is a privilege and climbers are asked to respect it as such.

Equipment

- Climbers are required to use safety equipment that is safe and in good working order.
- Climbers are required to wear purpose-made climbing shoes in all events; Lead, Speed and Boulder, as well as Dyno competitions and other ancillary climbing events.

Personal Interactions

- Climbers are required to respect the requests of organisers of the competition, the team management and the team coach.
- Climbers are required to act in a supportive and positive manner toward their teammates.
- Climbers are required to demonstrate positive sportsmanship toward their fellow competitors.
