SIMPLIFIED CHECKLIST FOR SMALL SPORTING ORGANISATIONS

MAY 2020

SPORTAUS

Introduction

Sport Australia has developed a “Return to Sport” Toolkit (Toolkit) that all sports can leverage to ensure they are ready to recommence training, competitions and programs in a safe, responsible and low risk manner once the risks arising from COVID-19 are mitigated.

The Toolkit complements the AIS Framework for Rebooting Sport in a COVID-19 Environment (AIS Framework) by providing comprehensive guidance on a range of key considerations that should be assessed before sporting activities can resume and during the resumption phase.

Sport Australia has also developed this checklist (Checklist) to provide specific, more targeted guidance to sporting organisations on the considerations to be taken into account in resuming community sporting activity.

How to use the Checklist

All sporting organisations should nominate their own COVID-19 Safety Coordinator to oversee the development and implementation of return to sport arrangements. This role will be fundamental for helping to ensure the successful and stable return of sport across the Australian community.

The COVID-19 Safety Coordinator should ensure that their organisation review the Checklist as it contains a range of critical considerations that all sporting organisations should take into account in determining their return to sport arrangements. Each sport will likely also have its own unique and specific requirements that should be factored into any plan for the resumption of sport. Associations and clubs should document their return to sport arrangements in a COVID-19 Safety Plan. A COVID-19 Safety Plan template that can be used as a starting point for sporting organisations is available on the Sport Australia website.

The State and Territory Governments are responsible for decisions on the resumption of sport and recreation, both at the professional and community level. They will determine progression through the phases, taking account of local epidemiology, risk mitigation strategies and public health capability. The Checklist must be used subject to measures imposed by individual State and Territory Governments and to the advice of relevant public health authorities. Organisations should consider seeking independent legal and financial advice when finalising plans to return to sport.

Return to Sport Checklist

Your organisation should consider each of the actions set out in each checklist. These actions should act as a guide for sporting organisations and prompt further discussion on measures that are appropriate for an organisation.

Some organisations may determine that the organisational capability or risk profile of their sporting activities do not justify undertaking all of the listed actions. However, where an action in this checklist is not undertaken, the organisation should be able to justify that decision to relevant sport stakeholder groups, including government and public health authorities, on an “if not, why not?” basis. Space is provided at the bottom of each consideration for organisations to document the rationale behind such decisions.

It is important to properly consider the requirements of your sport’s return to sport plan to ensure your return to sport arrangements do not jeopardise the health of your sport’s participants.
